"Think You Got What It Takes?"

The Laff House has been the stepping-stone for many of today's biggest stars of film, television, and, of course, comedy. Celebrities such as Kevin Hart, Joe DeRosa, Michael Shawn and Comedian TuRae have started their careers as open mic comedians before moving on to become national celebrities.

Every Wednesday, the Laff House presents our "New Comic Showcase", featuring some of the finest local talent that the city of Philadelphia has to offer. Whether it be someone who is pursuing their passion for comedy, or one of Philadelphia's most experienced comics, the Laff House is the premier comedy scene for comics of all experience levels.

Want to meet and network with other comedians? The Laff

House isn't just a place of interest for "Philly's Best Comics", it's a community of people with one common interest: Being funny. The more stage time you get at the Laff House, the more you learn and the funnier you get!

Think you have what it takes to become Philly's next big comedian? Then E-mail us with a picture and brief paragraph explaining your sense of humor to newcomics@laffhouse.com. Once you are chosen, you will get a spot on our "New Comics Showcase", hosted by the "Legendary Wid".
