Hurricane Andrew

William Andrew Dandy a.k.a. Hurricane Andrew realized at a young age that he was destined to be a comedic entertainer. He entered a local club's Apollo talent competition and won 1st place. This only confirmed that comedy was his destined career path. After his military career, Andrew aggressively pursued comedy until he was recognized as one of the country's hottest and up and coming comedians. Andrew acquired his stage name from a close friend from Miami, Florida, who made it through Hurricane Andrew in 1992. His friend was so impressed with Andrew's fast paced and forceful comedic style, that he began to yell out "Hurricane Andrew, Hurricane Andrew in full effect!" and thus, Hurricane.
